PRINCE & CO.'S
IMPROVED MELODEONS!

THE OLDEST EStablishment in the United States, employing two hundred men, is now manufacturing over 100,000 instruments daily.
Between 18,000 and 19,000 of these instruments have been shipped, and are now in use throughout the world.
The DIVIDED SWELL, secured to the English Patent, is the only instrument of this class ever made, and is the only instrument of its kind ever made. It is a great improvement over the old Melodeon, and is now in use throughout the world.

SATURDAY, - OCTOBER 25, 1856.

Meet the Democracy at Gilman's.

The Louisville Journal, of yesterday, is very distinct and emphatic term, avows its great anxiety for the preservation of the peace of the city at the approaching election. Every good citizen will heartily endorse the following from the article alluded to:

Let no man who has a right to vote here be denied the privilege. Let every one made to feel that he can go to the polls as securely as he can to a quiet home. Let every man who sees the shadow of a pretzel that he is afraid to exercise his legal rights. And let the first man and last, who venture to stand in the public arena in the violence, to throw the slightest oblique in the way of the due exercise of the franchise, be subject to the most severe punishments and named over for punishment.

This is just the view which every law-abiding and respectable man in Louisville should exert himself to enforce. The reputation of the city has been damaged to an inexcusable extent, by the terrible riots of 1855. The value of its property and its business have suffered to the extent of millions already, and the occurrence of similar brutal tumultuous brawls, would inflict a fatal blow on all her future prospects. Every thinking man must realize this. Is there a single individual in our midst, who feels the slightest concern for the moral and religious reputation of the community in which he lives, or who holds any interest in her material prosperity, who is willing to make so great a sacrifice for the paltry consideration of local party success? It is certain that none such can be found, unless he is deplorably afflicted with partisan insanity. Let us, then, witness the redemption of Louisville from the foul stain which has hitherto rested on her good name, in consequence of the deeds of brutal violence perpetrated by lawless desperadoes. If it is not done, we shall be without excuse. It has been done in other cities of double and trouble our population, and there can be no reason why proper precautions would not be as effectual in Louisville as elsewhere.

While on this subject, we will take occasion to suggest that we feel, and we think all judicious men will concur with us, that the Journal's inflammatory allusion to the transactions of 1855, are not consistent with the earnest desire he expresses for the preservation of order now.

The facts connected with that matter are before the world, and its judgment has been formed upon it, as to the respective share of guilt belonging to all concerned. It can answer no possible good purpose to plead past occurrences.

It is also untrue, that any portion of the Democratic party with us mischievous come upon our city. On the contrary, the most anxious desire exists, to see peace and good order restored, and the laws strictly and rigidly enforced against all offenders by fraud or otherwise. Every effort they can make to that end will be most cheerfully and faithfully exerted.

This crimination, therefore, on the part of the Journal, is out of place, and we might say suspicious, in connection with his avowed object to secure a peaceful and orderly election.

As to the charges so repeatedly made, and now again uttered, about contemplated frauds on the ballot-box at the election, by introducing foreign voters, we most solemnly aver, that, so far as the Democratic party are concerned, it is utterly without foundation. We personally know it to be so. We invoke the severest penalties of the law upon all such infamous conspirators against the purity of the elective franchise, and we hope and trust that the election day will reveal the guilty, and fix on them the disgrace so well deserved; if, indeed, such a criminal scheme has been set on foot.

We have never thought that our city authorities were blameable for their deplorable failure to preserve the peace at the election of August, 1855. Upon that occasion, they did their best to prevent a riot, and to quell it as such disturbances as they had any good reason to anticipate. They did their best to keep up a regular and peaceful Irish and German throughout the city was a thing as unexpected, so utterly unlike for that, and the author of having made adequate preparations to meet the crisis.—See Journal.

A deplorable failure to preserve the peace at the election of August, 1855," the authorities could not be regarded as responsible for not having made adequate preparations to meet the crisis." The assertion that "the Irish and Germans, throughout the city," made "a simultaneous attack upon our native born population," is utterly false, as every one here knows. From morning till night they were hunted, pursued, beaten, and maimed, without cause or provocation. So much for the simultaneous attack. The authorities not to blame, says the editor. If the Irish and Germans made the attack, had not the Journal, for several days previous, given warning, by representing them as being enraged like wild beasts, and anxious to drive out the natives; and did not publish that large bands of Irish bullies were imported? He did. Why, then, did not the authorities prepare for it? The answer is easy. They knew the Journal's statements were not true. If they had believed them, they would have mustered a regiment of policemen. The murderous strife was commenced, and carried on, by the American party. Everybody knows that to the fact. Were not the authorities warned beforehand by the Democratic party? They were; but not seeming to heed the warning, a formal proposition was made to the Know-Nothing party to unite, and take the necessary steps to preserve order and quiet. The proposition was rejected, for the alleged reason, that the city authorities were competent to keep the peace, and that any outside arrangement, for that purpose, between the parties, would imply distrust of them. The truth is, neither the Journal, nor the authorities of the city, cared a copper how the peace of the city was disturbed on the day of the election, if there was a likelihood of nobody being injured much, except the Irish and Germans. As evidence of this, many arrests were made on the day of election, but the parties attacked and abused were arrested, while those who did the beating and bruising were permitted to go at large.

An election is at hand, and much excitement prevails. Apprehensions of violence are felt by many, and not without reason, in view of the past. We tell the authorities so, and call upon them to preserve the city from the re-enactment of the scene of bloody Monday. Are they now forewarned? In the event of another "deplorable failure to preserve the peace," what will be the excuse? A convenient plea would be, that the Journal and its friends expected no difficulty.

But the Journal admits now, that "the regular authorities of the city have the power to keep the peace." We are glad to hear it. Don't doubt it. But will they do it? That's the question.

DAILY DEMOCRAT.

SATURDAY, - OCTOBER 25, 1856.

Dealers in Medicine.

Hurley's Sarsaparilla commands the largest sale, and is the best preparation before the public. When purchasing stock be sure and take no other.

Democrat Job Office.

Our facilities for the execution of job printing are now equal to the wants of the business men of the community, having an excellent variety of neat display type, and talent competent to its use. Our prices are exceedingly liberal. If the public desire to have any work in this line of our business, they should not fail to give us a call.

A Cheap Newspaper.

The Daily Democrat costs one cent per week, payable to the editor; and it is served between all parts of the city, Portland, Shippingport, Jeffersonville, and New Albany, promptly, by faithful carriers. Every Democrat should subscribe. Who will go without the news, when it can be served them, at their own doors, bright and early in the morning, at such a rate? Orders left at the office, or with the carriers, will receive prompt attention.

The Great Barbecue at Gilman's!

It is rendered certain now that Gov. Willard, R. W. Woolley, Chas. Anderson, and Beriah Magoffin, will attend and speak at the Grand Barbecue at Gilman's, on Tuesday, the 23d. In addition to these distinguished names, other speakers, of the highest order of merit, will be in attendance. This is about the last grand reunion the Democracy will have in this part of the State previous to the election, and a generous effort will be made to rival the great meeting at Lexington, on the 23d. Kentuckians are invited from every district, county, and precinct in the State, and we expect that a demonstration will be made upon the occasion which will exceed in moral power and grandeur any like political event in the history of our glorious old Commonwealth. Ample preparations have been made to entertain twenty-five thousand persons.

Oil Cakes for Feeding Cattle.

It is perhaps generally known that nearly all the oil cake produced at the American oil mills is shipped to England, where it is considered an indispensable article of food for stock. It is there generally considered worth more than double the quantity of corn meal, especially for fattening cattle, and many persons are of opinion that the peculiar rich flavor of English beef, of which we hear so much, is mainly attributable to this article of food. It is very rarely used in this country, and for this the reasons are not very obvious. Two years ago, when corn was high, one of our most eminent stock raisers in the interior used forty to fifty cents per bushel, with great satisfaction. Corn will probably be high again this season, and it may be an important question whether oil cake may not be advantageously used here. The price fluctuates somewhat, depending on the demand in England. It is now about $120 per ton, and when ground is worth about 70 cents per bushel. We can see no reason why this article may not be of equal value here, compared with grain as in England. If so, at the present prices of corn, it must be economy to use oil cake at present prices, in place of corn meal.

Death of Capt. Wm. P. Jarvis.

The details of the news from Nicaragua bring the sad intelligence of the death of the young gentleman whose name bears this brief notice. He was mortally wounded in an engagement at San Jacinto, on the 6th of September last. It is needless to say that the deceased fell gallantly fighting in a cause dear to his heart.

The deceased was the eldest son of William Jarvis, Esq., a merchant of this city. He had embraced the profession of law, but a desire to contribute something to the great cause of human liberty, had attracted him from the practice of his profession. He was frank, generous, and sociable in character almost to a fault, and few young men could number a larger and more attached circle of friends. He buried the object of his early love but a twelve-month ago, and leaves an interesting little daughter to mourn him untimely.

It is worse than vain to attempt an expression of the sentiments of regret and sorrow at the reception of this sad and unexpected intelligence. One who knew the deceased long and intimately, could not be expected to summon up a severe indisposition, tendering her a complimentary benefit, which she accepted, and which was to have taken place night before last.

In the West and Northwest.

The Florances opened at the St. Louis Theater Monday night to a crowded house, and have been playing their old pieces very successfully. At the People's—St. Louis—the company are giving such pieces as the Wizard of the Wave—scenic—and the Pirates of the Mississippi.

In Milwaukee, the company are still playing pieces of the first character, with Mrs. W. M. Ward in the leading female parts. We notice in the paper a correspondence between a large number of citizens and Miss Dora Shaw, who is recovering from a severe indisposition, tendering her a complimentary benefit, which she accepted, and which was to have taken place night before last.

BIRMINGHAM.

The success which attended the performances at Liverpool of Mr. Webster and Madame Celeste has followed them to Birmingham, where they have been playing to houses crowded to the ceiling. "Janet Fitch" has been the attraction, and the local papers are loud in the praise of the skillful and forcible acting of the actress.

"The Patriotic's Daughter" was performed on Monday, by Mr. and Mrs. Webster, and Miss Edwina Waller appeared in the highly-eloquent part of Lady Gay Spanker. The actress, however, failed to find in it those opportunities of sparkling acting to which we have been accustomed, and to which Mrs. Webster gave such exquisite expression. The audience, however, did not mind joint-making, and ignored many passages usually rendered salient. Her style of acting exudes no enthusiasm, whether in a tragic or comic mood; and, on the whole, we must confess that we were much disappointed, particularly as we were taught to expect the talents of the lady to surpass those of the popular Miss Eliza Hart.

The audience, however, did not mind joint-making, and ignored many passages usually rendered salient. Her style of acting exudes no enthusiasm, whether in a tragic or comic mood; and, on the whole, we must confess that we were much disappointed, particularly as we were taught to expect the talents of the lady to surpass those of the popular Miss Eliza Hart.

"The Patriotic's Daughter" was performed on Monday, by Mr. and Mrs. Webster, and Miss Edwina Waller appeared in the highly-eloquent part of Lady Gay Spanker. The actress, however, failed to find in it those opportunities of sparkling acting to which we have been accustomed, and to which Mrs. Webster gave such exquisite expression.
